PREFACE.

As directed by the Statutes the undersigned presents the Register for 1895 to the public with assurance that its compilation has been performed with the usual accuracy.

In response to a popular demand, the vote for representatives in the General Assembly was at a late hour compiled and appears in this volume for the first time. Returns of this vote are not required by law to be made to the Secretary, but the town clerks of the various towns in the State have kindly furnished them for publication and, for this as well as for other matter, those who value the Register as a statistical book are again indebted to them.

The numerous changes in important offices made by the present General Assembly has delayed the publication of the volume.

WILLIAM C. MOWRY,

Secretary.

THE CAPITOL.

In 1871 the General Assembly appointed a commission to contract for and fully complete a capitol building in Hartford, and appropriated five hundred thousand dollars, authorizing the city of Hartford to appropriate and issue bonds to the extent of one million dollars for the same purpose.

The commission accepted the present site from the city of Hartford and the plan of Mr. R. M. Upjohn of New York, as a design for the building.

In 1873 the plan was changed to a design for the present fire-proof building, and one million dollars additional appropriated by the State. A new commission was also appointed.

The General Assembly opened its first regular session in the building in January, 1879, but it was not fully completed until some months later.

The entire cost, including heating and ventilating apparatus and such statuary as was placed at the time of erection, was $2,532,524.43, and the cost of the furniture was about one hundred thousand dollars more.

The rooms used for offices and by committees are numbered from 1 to 80. The Senate Chamber and Representatives Hall on the second floor, and the State Library on the third floor are not numbered.

The dimensions are as follows :

Extreme length, two hundred ninety-five feet, eight inches. Width of central part, one hundred eighty-nine feet, four inches ; of wings, one hundred eleven feet, eight inches. Height from ground to top of roof, ninety-two feet, eight inches ; to top of crowning figure, two hundred fifty-seven feet, two inches.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

IN CONGRESS,

JULY 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION

OF THE

THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate, that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation :

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us :

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States :

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world :

For imposing taxes on us without our consent :

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury :

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses :

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies :

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments :

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connexions and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

PREAMBLE.

WE, THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1.

1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

SECTION 2.

1. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States; and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislature.

2. No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

3. Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons. The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three; Massachusetts, eight; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, one; Connecticut, five; New York, six; New Jersey, four; Pennsylvania, eight; Delaware, one; Maryland, six; Virginia, ten; North Carolina, five; South Carolina, five; and Georgia, three.

4. When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

5. The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

SECTION 3.

1. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each State, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years, and each senator shall have one vote.

2. Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

3. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

4. The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote unless they be equally divided.

5. The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore in the absence of the vice-president or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

6. The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

7. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

SECTION 4.

1. The times, places, and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the legislature thereof; but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

2. The congress shall assemble at least once in every year; and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

SECTION 5.

1. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

2. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

3. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may, in their judgment, require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

4. Neither house, during the session of congress, shall without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

SECTION 6.

1. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall, in all cases except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

2. No senator or representative shall during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

SECTION 7.

1. All bills for raising revenues shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

2. Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated; who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases, the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

3. Every order, resolution or vote, to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment), shall be presented to the president of the United States; and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him; or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

SECTION 8.

The congress shall have power:

1. To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises; to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States.

2. To borrow money on the credit of the United States.

3. To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes.

4. To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States.

5. To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures.

6. To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States.

7. To establish post-offices and post-roads.

8. To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.

9. To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court; to define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations.

10. To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water.

11. To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years.

12. To provide and maintain a navy.

13. To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

14. To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions.

15. To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States; reserving to the States respectively the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress.

16. To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States; and to exercise like authority over all places purchased, by the consent of the legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, and other needful buildings; and

17. To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

SECTION 9.

1. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year, one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

2. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

3. No bill of attainder, or ex post facto law shall be passed.

4. No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

5. No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any

State. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one State over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one State be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another.

6. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

7. No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the congress, accept of any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign State.

SECTION 10.

1. No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts; or grant any title of nobility.

2. No State shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws, and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any State on imports or exports shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States, and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress. No State shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another State, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1.

1. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years; and, together with the vice-president chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

2. Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the State may be entitled in the congress but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

3. [The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list, the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president, the vote shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice-president.]*

4. The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

5. No person, except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

6. In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president; and the congress may, by law, provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president; and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

7. The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected; and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

* This paragraph has been superseded and annulled by the 12th amendment.

8. Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States; and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

SECTION 2.

1. The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States. He may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

2. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint, ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law. But the congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper, in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

3. The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

SECTION 3.

1. He shall, from time to time, give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper. He shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

SECTION 4.

1. The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1.

1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior; and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

SECTION 2.

1. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers, and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more States; between a State and citizens of another State; between citizens of different States between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State, or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens or subjects.

2. In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a State shall be party, the supreme court, shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

3. The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury, and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

SECTION 3.

1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort.

No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

2. The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason; but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

SECTION 1.

1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other State; and the congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

SECTION 2.

1. The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States.

2. A person charged in any State with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another State, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

AMENDMENTS.

TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

The following amendments were proposed at the first session of the first congress of the United States, which was begun and held at the city of New York on the 4th of March, 1789, and were adopted by the requisite number of States. Laws of the U. S., vol. 1, page 82.

[The following preamble and resolution preceded the original proposition of the amendments, and as they have been supposed to have an important bearing on the construction of those amendments, they are here inserted. They will be found in the journals of the first session of the first congress.]

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES.

Begun and held at the city of New York, on Wednesday, the 4th day of March, 1789.

The conventions of a number of the States having, at the time of their adopting the constitution, expressed a desire, in order to prevent misconstruction or abuse of its powers, that further declaratory and restrictive clauses should be added, and as extending the ground of public confidence in the government will best insure the beneficent ends of its institution:

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, two-thirds of both houses concurring, that the following articles be proposed to the legislatures of the several States, as amendments to the constitution of the United States; all or any of which articles, when ratified by three-fourths of the said legislatures, to be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of the said constitution, namely:

ARTICLE I.*

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner, nor in time of war but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

*The first twelve Articles of these Amendments were never ratified by this State

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law; and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.*

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

* This affects only United States Courts.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

[The following amendment was proposed at the second session of the third congress. It is printed in the Laws of the United States, vol. 1, p. 73, as article 11.]

ARTICLE XI.

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another State, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

[The three following sections were proposed as amendments at the first session of the eighth congress. They are printed in the laws of the United States as article 12.]

ARTICLE XII.

1. The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. They shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each; which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

A quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

3. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.*

SECTION 1.

SECTION 2.

Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.†

SECTION 1.

SEC. 3. The exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination, shall forever be free to all persons in this State, provided that the right hereby declared and established shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or to justify practices inconsistent with the peace and safety of the State.

SEC. 4. No preference shall be given by law to any Christian sect or mode of worship.

SEC. 5. Every citizen may freely speak, write, and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty.

There shall be one stated session of the General Assembly, to be holden in each year, alternately at Hartford and New Haven, on the first Wednesday of May,* and at such other times as the General Assembly shall judge necessary; the first session to be holden at Hartford; but the person administering the office of Governor may, on special emergencies, convene the General Assembly at either of said places, at any other time. And in case of danger from the prevalence of contagious diseases in either of said places, or other circumstances, the person administering the office of Governor may by proclamation convene said Assembly at any other place in this State.

SEC. 3. The House of Representatives shall consist of electors residing in towns from which they are elected. The number of Representatives from each town shall be the same as at present practiced and allowed. In case a new town shall hereafter be incorporated, such new town shall be entitled to one representative only; † and if such new town shall be made from one or more towns, the town or towns from which the same shall be made shall be entitled to the same number of Representatives as at present allowed, unless the number shall be reduced by the consent of such town or towns.

SEC. 4. The Senate shall consist of twelve members, to be chosen annually by the electors. ‡

The return of votes, and the result of the canvass, shall be submitted to the House of Representatives, and also to the Senate, on the first day of the session of the General Assembly; and each House shall be the final judge of the election, returns, and qualifications of its own members.

SEC. 7. The House of Representatives, when assembled, shall choose a speaker, clerk, and other officers. The Senate shall choose its clerk and other officers except the President. A majority of each House shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner, and under such penalties, as each House may prescribe.

SEC. 8. Each House shall determine the rules of its own proceedings, punish members for disorderly conduct, and, with the consent of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the legislature of a free and independent State.

RULES TO REGULATE

The Proceedings of the Senate

OF CONNECTICUT.

Resolved, That the Rules and Orders following be, and they are hereby, adopted as the standing Rules and Orders of the Senate, and they shall be read at the commencement of each session of the General Assembly by the Clerk.

1st. The President shall take the chair every day, at the hour to which the Senate shall have adjourned, and after prayer shall immediately call the Senate to order, and if a quorum be present, proceed to business. In case the President, or in his absence the President pro tempore wishes to leave the chair from indisposition or other cause, he may designate a senator to perform the duties of the chair for a period not exceeding one day at one time.

2d. The President shall preserve order, and decide questions of order without debate, subject to an appeal to the Senate. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting. The question first moved and seconded shall be the first put, and in all cases the sense of the Senate shall be taken upon the largest number or sum, and the longest time proposed.

3d. No member shall in any way interrupt the business of the Senate while the Journal or public papers are in reading, nor when any member is speaking in debate, nor while the President is putting the question.

4th. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise and respectfully address "Mr. President"; if two or more rise at once, the President shall name the member who is first to speak.

5th. No member shall speak more than twice upon the same question, without leave of the Senate, unless to explain.

6th. When a question is before the Senate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, table, postpone indefinitely, postpone to a certain date, commit, amend; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged, and a motion for adjournment shall always be in order, and be decided without debate.

7th. If the question in debate contains several points, any member may have the same divided.

8th. When the yeas and nays shall be called for by one-fifth of the members present, each member called upon shall (unless by special reason he be excused by the Senate) declare openly his assent or dissent to the question.

9th. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated to the Senate by the President, before any debate be had thereon; but every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the President so direct, or any member desire it.

10th. Every bill and joint resolution shall be introduced by a motion for leave, or by order of the Senate, or the report of a committee, and every bill for a public act and every joint resolution shall receive three several readings in the Senate, previously to its being passed into an act. And no such bill or joint resolution shall be read twice on the same day, without the order of the Senate, except bills or joint resolutions originating with any committee, or reported by a committee as substitutes, which may receive the first and second readings on the same day. And the President shall not state the same to the Senate for debate until the second reading.

11th. A committee of three, shall within the first two days of each session, be appointed to take into consideration all contested elections of members of the Senate, and to report the facts in issue, together with their opinion thereon.

12th. Committees of Conference shall be appointed by the Senate.

13th. All other committees shall be appointed by resolution by the Senate, unless the Senate shall otherwise order.

14th. When a motion has been stated by the President or read by the Clerk, it shall be considered to be in possession of the Senate, but may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment; but not after amendment, unless the Senate give leave.

15th. No member who is interested in the decision of any question in such manner that he cannot vote may stay in the Senate when such question is discussed or decided; provided, however, that this rule shall not extend to the sitting members in contested elections.

16th. When any member shall request a Committee of Conference on different votes of the two Houses of Assembly, a committee consisting of one member, who was in the vote of the Senate, shall be appointed; and if any member who was not in such vote shall be nominated, he shall notify the Senate.

ORGANIZATION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

OPENING DAY.

The Senate and House of Representatives both meet on the Wednesday after the first Monday of January following the general election, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

THE SENATE.

The Senate is called to order by the Secretary of state. Prayer may be offered immediately, or after the election of a President pro tempore.

The roll of Senators declared elected is then read by the Secretary, and the oath of office* administered by him to those present. Two temporary tellers are appointed and the Senate proceeds to ballot for a Clerk. The Secretary declares the result and administers the oath of office to the Clerk who calls upon the Senators to ballot for a President, pro tempore, and names two temporary tellers.

The Clerk having declared the result of the ballot, the President of the Senate takes the chair, addresses the Senate if he so choose, after which the official oath is administered to him by the Clerk.

Resolutions are then passed appointing a Chaplain, two Messengers, three Doorkeepers, and raising a Committee on Canvass of Votes for Senators. The canvass of votes as received from the Secretary's office is immediately referred to the committee, with instructions to report forthwith. After action upon the report of this committee and adoption of Senate rules, a committee may be appointed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate is organized and ready to proceed with business.

Pending and subsequent to report by the committee ordinary business may be introduced. Resolutions are usually passed authorizing the printing and distributing of the journal, concerning the daily reading of the same, instructing the messengers to receive and distribute mail matter, authorizing the Clerk to provide stationery and to assign seats to reporters.

Joint committees are raised by resolutions, which may originate in either the Senate or House of Representatives, and are usually prepared by the Clerks by mutual agreement, so that there may be no duplicates. The following should be raised immediately:

Committee to wait upon the retiring Governor and inquire if he has any communication to make to the General Assembly.

Committee on Canvass of Vote for State Officers.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House of Representatives must be called to order by the Speaker* of the preceding House, or by the senior member† of any previous House. After prayer by the Chaplain the roll is called by the Chief Clerk in the Secretary's office, and the oath‡ administered to those answering, by the person presiding. Members not answering to their names should, upon their first appearance, inform the Speaker and take the oath.

The chairman will then appoint two temporary clerks and four temporary tellers. The House will next proceed to ballot for Speaker. Upon the declaration of the result, a committee of two should be appointed to inform the Speaker of his election.

The Speaker, upon assuming his duties and taking the oath of office, administered by the chairman, will call for ballots for Clerk.

The Clerk, having been duly elected and sworn, the House will pass resolutions appointing an Assistant Clerk, a Chaplain, four Messengers, and not less than four nor more than six Doorkeepers.

Resolutions should then be passed raising a Committee on Contested Elections; a committee to inform the Senate that the House is organized and ready for business, and a Committee on Canvass of Votes for Senators.§

The various preliminary resolutions (see Senate proceedings) are next in order, and the proceedings following the report of the various committees are the same as in the Senate.

*Gen. Stat., Sec. 335, Constitution, Art. 10, Sec. 1.

† This was held in 1885 to mean the member having served the greatest number of terms.

‡ For form see Gen. Stat., Sec. 3264.

§ This duty is imperative, as in case the canvassing board find a tie vote in any district the House of Representatives must designate by ballot which shall be elected. (Constitution, Art. 3, Sec. 6, and Amendments, Art. 3.)

THE STATE OFFICERS.

As soon as the canvass of votes for State officers is received it should be referred to the proper committee, and the committee should immediately proceed to the performance of its duty. A recess may be taken pending the report, but there should be no adjournment for the day until the report of this committee has been received and acted on. If the committee report that a majority of votes has been cast for any or all the officers, joint resolutions should be passed declaring such election.

In case the Governor is elected a joint committee of one Senator and two Representatives should be raised to inform him of his election, and a similar committee to inform the Secretary, Treasurer, and Comptroller, if elected.

If the Lieutenant-Governor is elected, the Senate will appoint a committee of two to wait upon him and ask his acceptance of the office. Immediately after the acceptance of the report of this committee His Honor will enter the Senate Chamber, take the oath of office (usually administered by a Judge of the Superior Court), and assume his duties.

The Senate, upon receiving through its member of the committee notice of the acceptance of the offices to which they are elected by the other State officers, should notify the House that it is ready to meet that body in Joint Convention, and having received a similar notice from the House, the Senate may proceed to the Representatives' hall.

If the Committee on Canvass of Vote for State Officers reports that no election by the people has occurred for any or all the officers, a joint resolution should be passed declaring the facts found to be true, and naming an hour of the succeeding day at which the two houses will meet in joint convention to elect.

THE JOINT CONVENTION.

The Joint Convention is called to order by the President, or President pro tem., of the Senate, the Clerk of the Senate acting as clerk.

Prayer by the Chaplain of the Senate or House.

If there shall have been an election by the people, a resolution should be passed raising a committee of one Senator and two Representatives to inform the Governor-elect that the Senate and House of Representatives are met in Joint Convention for his inauguration, and to receive any communication he may desire to make. The committee having performed their duties and reported are discharged, and the Governor, attended by his staff, the Secretary, Treasurer, and Comptroller, appear in the hall. The oath of office is administered to the newly elected officers (by a Judge of the Supreme or Superior Court usually), and the inaugural message is delivered. The Governor then retires and the Convention is dissolved.

If there shall have been no election by the people, the Convention assembles in the same manner. The roll of the Senate is called by the Clerk of the Senate, and the names of absentees must be entered on the Journal of the Senate.

The roll of the House is then called by the Clerk of the House, and the names of absentees must be entered upon the Journal of the House.

The President then appoints four tellers and the Convention proceeds without debate to ballot for Governor, and subsequently for the other State officers separately, following which the Convention is dissolved.

SUBSEQUENT PROCEEDINGS.

Upon the re-assembling of each House after the dissolution of the Joint Convention, the presiding officer must report the doings of the Joint Convention, and declaratory resolutions should be passed in the same manner as in case of an election by the people, the same notices of election given, and the inauguration may then be proceeded with in the same manner.

RULINGS OF THE PRESIDING OFFICERS

OF THE

SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.*

ADDITIONS TO THE ROLL.

In the House, in 1891, a member arose to a question of privilege, stating that the name of a certain man should be added to the roll of the House. The chairman (Perry) ruled the member out of order. On appeal the decision of the Chair was sustained (H. J., 1891, p. 9).

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Upon the construction of the provision in article eleventh of the Constitution requiring "two-thirds of each House" to vote in the affirmative to adopt an amendment to the Constitution, the Speaker of the House (Rice), in 1864, ruled that two-thirds of the whole House was necessary. The ruling was appealed from and the House decided that two-thirds of those present was sufficient. This decision was followed by the Speakers of the House in 1876 (Waller), in 1877 (L. Harrison), and in 1884 (H. B. Harrison).

APPROPRIATIONS FROM THE STATE TREASURY.

In 1889, the Speaker of the House (Perry) ruled that the provision in Section 402 of the General Statutes, requiring resolutions appropriating money from the State treasury to be referred to the Committee on Appropriations was mandatory, and so referred a resolution that had been favorably reported by the Committee on Claims and passed by the Senate. This ruling was appealed from and the appeal sustained (H. J., 1889, p. 497).

BILLS.

In the House, in 1891, the point was raised that a bill being in contravention of the Statutes was not in order. The Speaker

* The General Assembly of 1889, having authorized the preparation of this chapter and made an appropriation for that purpose, the Clerks of the House for that year were employed to search the Journals from 1869, and the result of their work is here given, together with the rulings of the sessions of 1891 and 1893. This list of the rulings is required to be kept complete from session to session.

(Paige) ruled that the point of order was not well taken (H. J., 1891, pp. 249, 250).

CHANGE OF VOTES.

In 1883 the President of the Senate (Sumner) ruled that after the result of a yea and nay vote had been declared, the record could not be altered by the change of votes except upon reconsideration of the bill (S. J., 1883, p. 627).

COMMITTEES.

In 1891, the point was raised that the House Committee on Causass of Votes for State Officers having made its report was thereby dissolved, and that therefore the reference to that Committee of a House Joint Resolution was not in order. The Speaker (Paige) ruled the point of order not well taken, on the ground that committees appointed by the House are in existence until the close of the session, unless discharged from service by vote of the House (H. J., 1891, p. 163).

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

In the House, in 1887, the Speaker (Hoyt), in response to a request for a decision on that point, ruled that Rule XIII did not require that resolutions favorably reported and printed must be filed on the members' desks one day before they could be starred for action, explaining that the clerks were unable to tell what resolutions were to be starred on the Calendar until the printed copies had been filed (H. J., 1887, p. 369).

In 1889, the Speaker (Perry) ruled that if, during the debate upon a measure, a member of the committee signified his desire to withdraw from the majority report and sign the minority report and thereby a majority of the committee were found to have signed the latter, it must be considered as the majority report (H. J., 1889, p. 1041).

CONTESTED ELECTIONS.

In the House, in 1893, the point was raised that members whose seats were contested were not entitled to vote on a report recommending that a petitioner for a seat in the House be given leave to withdraw. The Speaker (Brooks) ruled the point of order not well taken (H. J., 1893, p. 498).

INTRODUCTION OF JOINT RESOLUTIONS.

In 1891, the point was raised in the Senate that a joint resolution was not in order, the Senate not having been officially notified that the House had organized. The President pro tem. (Read) ruled the point of order not well taken (S. J., 1891, p. 11).

JOINT RULES.

The Speaker of the House (Pine), in 1883, ruled that the House might suspend a rule relating to its Calendar although it was a joint rule. The ruling was appealed from but sustained (H. J., 1883, pp. 811, 812).

NEW BUSINESS AND AMENDMENTS.

In the House, in 1884, the force of a joint resolution restricting the time for the admission of new business was questioned, and the Speaker (H. B. Harrison) ruled that the resolution was in effect a joint rule, and could only be set aside by a two-thirds vote (H. J., 1884, p. 537).

During the same session the Speaker ruled that if the resolution "except bills or resolutions originating in committees," a motion instructing a committee to report a specified resolution came within the exception and was in order (H. J., 1884, p. 538).

In 1886, the point was raised that a petition of a private nature did not come within the provisions contemplated by the constitution and statutes as to the right of petition, and consequently could not be received after the time limited for the reception of new business. The Speaker (Tibbits) ruled the point of order well taken (H. J., 1886, p. 288).

In the House, in 1885, the point was raised that an amendment was new business, and not in order. The Speaker (Simonds) ruled that it was not within the province of the Chair to decide a question of that nature. In 1889, the point was raised that an amendment offered was not germane to the bill before the House, and the Speaker (Perry) ruled that the point was well taken, and the House sustained the ruling (H. J., 1889, p. 355).

In the House, in 1891, a resolution was introduced declaring Nicholas Staub elected Comptroller. It was moved to amend by adding declaration of the election of other State officers. By the Speaker (Paige) the amendment was ruled out of order as not germane (H. J., 1891, p. 177).

The Speaker of the House (Hoyt), in 1887, ruled that a motion to substitute an original bill for a substitute favorably reported by a committee was in the nature of an amendment and in order (H. J., 1887, p. 508).

ORGANIZATION OF HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

In the House, in 1891, a resolution was introduced paying the Speaker of the 1889 House for services rendered at the organization of the House of 1891. The point was raised that the resolution was contrary to the provisions of the constitution and the statutes regulating the compensation of members of the General Assembly. The Speaker (Paige) ruled the point of order not well taken, as the resolution was in accordance with well established precedents (H. J., 1891, p. 223).

PRECEDENCE OF MOTIONS.

In 1883, the Speaker of the House (Pine) ruled that an objection to a bill upon its first reading takes precedence of a motion to refer to committee, and the question is "shall the bill be rejected" (H. J., 1883, p. 149).

In reference to the provision of House Rule XXXII, requiring the largest number or sum to be first voted on, the Speaker of the House (H. B. Harrison) ruled in 1884, that this did not apply to amendments reducing the number or sum proposed in a bill or resolution (H. J., 1884, p. 427).

The Speaker of the House (Tibbits), in 1886, ruled that a motion for the yeas and nays takes precedence over a motion for a rising vote (H. J., 1886, p. 633).

The previous question having been ordered, the Speaker of the House in 1885 (Simonds), ruled that the vote on the main question takes precedence of all other motions (H. J., 1886, pp. 521, 656, 677). At the same session the point was raised that, after an amendment to a bill had been offered, it was not in order to move the previous question on the bill until the amendment had been voted on. The Speaker ruled that the point was not well taken, and the House sustained the ruling (H. J., 1885, p. 647).

The Speaker of the House in 1884 (H. B. Harrison), ruled that the consideration of matters pending at adjournment might, by unanimous consent, be deferred, and routine business proceeded with (H. J., 1884, pp. 545, 607), which practice has since been followed.

In the House, in 1891, a motion to reconsider was made, and a member began to discuss the main question, when the motion for reconsideration was seconded. The point of order was made that it was too late to second the motion for reconsideration. The point of order was sustained by the Speaker (Paige). Immediately following this a motion was made that the House take a recess, and the Speaker entertained the motion, to which objection was made. The Speaker ruled that the motion to take a recess was in order, from which ruling an appeal was taken. Vote disclosed absence of quorum (H. J., 1891, pp. 274-277).

In the House, in 1891, before a declaration of the result of a roll-call was announced, a member moved that, inasmuch as the roll-call showed no quorum present, the House adjourn. The Speaker (Paige) ruled the motion out of order (H. J., 1891, p. 343).

READING OF LETTERS.

The President pro tem. of the Senate (Walsh), in 1887, ruled that the reading of letters relating to matters before the Senate containing the opinion of individuals upon the subject under consideration was not in order (S. J., 1887, p. 661).

RECONSIDERATIONS.

In 1883, the President of the Senate (Sumner) ruled that a motion to reconsider the action of the Senate could not be entertained unless the resolution voted on was in possession of the Senate (S. J., 1883, p. 627).

In 1887, the Speaker of the House (Hoyt) ruled that a motion to reconsider was in order, although the bill was not in possession of the House (H. J., 1887, p. 930), and the Speaker (Perry) so decided in 1889 (H. J., 1889, p. 734).

In 1884, the Speaker of the House (H. B. Harrison) ruled that a motion to reconsider must be made within the time specified in Rule XXXVII, and that notice of intention to so move cannot operate to extend that time (H. J., 1884, p. 336).

In 1887, the Speaker of the House (Hoyt) ruled that a motion to reconsider made after the session day subsequent to its passage was not in order (H. J., 1887, p. 794). Subsequently during the same session, a bill was recalled from the Secretary's office by joint resolution, and upon motion being made to reconsider the action of the House, the point was raised that the time for reconsideration had elapsed, but the point of order was overruled (H. J., 1887, p. 881).

In the House in 1889, this point was raised, and the Speaker (Perry) decided that it was well taken. The decision was appealed from, and, after lengthy discussion, sustained (H. J., 1889, p. 724).

In 1885, the House having upon appeal sustained a decision of the chair, a motion was made to reconsider the vote to sustain, and the point was raised that a vote on an appeal could not be reconsidered. The Speaker (Simonds) ruled that such a motion was proper, but could not be acted on at that time (H. J., 1885, p. 673).

The President of the Senate (Sumner), in 1883, ruled that the Senate having, in a case of disagreeing action, voted to "adhere," the bill could not again be considered (S. J., 1883, p. 746).

In the House in 1893, the point was raised that a motion to table a motion to reconsider could not be withdrawn. The Speaker (Brooks) ruled the point of order not well taken. Appeal was taken, but was not sustained (H. J., 1893, pp. 1526, 1527).

In the House in 1893, the point was raised that a matter could not be reconsidered, as two session-days had elapsed since the prior action of the House on the matter. The Speaker (Brooks) ruled the point of order not well taken, and on appeal was sustained (H. J., 1893, p. 487).

In the House in 1893, the point was raised that a motion to reconsider was not in order when the matter was already in the possession of the Senate in accordance with a resolution passed requiring the clerk to transmit daily all matter acted upon. The Speaker (Brooks) ruled that the point of order was not well taken (H. J., 1893, p. 1336).

RESTORATION OF FORFEITED RIGHTS.

The question as to what constitutes the two-thirds of the members of both branches of the General Assembly required by Article XVII of the Amendments to the Constitution, has been several times raised, but the decisions have not been uniform. By reference to H. J., 1883, pp. 571-575, 579, it will be seen that at that time it was considered that two-thirds of the members of the House must vote in the affirmative. The Senate in 1884 (S. J., p. 285), decided that two-thirds of the Senate was required to vote in the affirmative; the question having been raised by the President of the Senate (Sumner) for the purpose of getting a decision on that point. In 1889, the Speaker of the House (Perry) ruled that two-thirds of the members of the House must vote in the affirmative (H. J., 1889, p. 373). This decision was appealed from, and, after full discussion, the ruling of the Speaker was sustained, but, a motion to reconsider being made, the House reversed its previous action, sustained the appeal, and proceeded by a two-thirds vote of the members present to pass the resolution (H. J., 1889, pp. 380, 381).

In the House in 1893, the Speaker (Brooks) ruled that it required the affirmative vote of two-thirds of all the members of the House to pass a resolution restoring forfeited rights. Appeal was taken and was sustained (H. J., 1893, p. 228).

ROLL CALL.

In 1893 in the Senate, a call of the roll of the Senate was demanded, and the point was raised that, as the vote just taken had not disclosed the absence of a quorum, the demand was out of order. The President (Cady) decided the point of order well taken (S. J., 1893, p. 464).

RULES.

In 1891, in the House, the point was raised that a certain resolution proposing an amendment to the House rules was out of order, inasmuch as the proposed rule was in contravention of the General Statutes. The Speaker (Paige) ruled the point of order not well taken, and on appeal his decision was sustained (H. J., 1891, pp. 184-189).

SECOND READING.

In 1891, on the first session-day, certain bills for public acts were taken from the table and read the second time. The point of order was raised that under House Rule 24 the foregoing bills could not come up for a second reading until the second session-day of the House. The Speaker (Paige) ruled the point of order not well taken on the ground that Rule 24 referred to calendar-days and not to session-days (H. J., 1891, p. 163).

UNPARLIAMENTARY LANGUAGE.

In the House in 1891, a member referred to the Governor as an "intruder and usurper." The point was raised that the language used was unparliamentary and disrespectful to the Governor of Connecticut. The Speaker (Paige) decided the point of order well taken, and directed the clerk to take down the unparliamentary language (H. J., 1891, p. 189).

VETOED MEASURES.

The Constitution, Article IV, Section 12, provides that if the Governor disapproves a bill, he shall send it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, where it shall be reconsidered.

Upon the construction of the following sentence, "If, after reconsideration, that house shall again pass it, it shall be sent with objections to the other house, which shall also reconsider it," the Speaker of the House (Pine) in 1883 (H. J., p. 897) ruled that the main question was, "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?" and that this question was open to any of the subsidiary motions, but not to a motion to amend the bill, as that would change the main question.

In the same year the Senate amended a vetoed bill to remove the features objected to by the Governor, but the House refused to receive the bill as amended (H. J., 1883, p. 868), and upon its return to the Senate, that body reconsidered its action, rejected the amendment, and then voted upon the passage of the bill as vetoed, "the objections of the Governor notwithstanding" (S. J., p. 723).

In the House, in 1889, the chair (Mr. Olmstead) ruled that an amendment to a vetoed bill was in order, but, upon appeal, the House sustained the appeal (H. J., 1889, p. 688).

Later in the same session, a bill that had been passed over the Governor's veto was again reconsidered,* amended, and again passed, but the Senate refused to consider the amendments, voting upon the original bill as returned by the Governor (S. J., 1889, p. 955). The President of the Senate (Merwin) had the day previously ruled in a parallel case, that the only question properly before the Senate was, "Shall the bill pass, the objections of the Governor notwithstanding?" and this ruling had, upon appeal, been sustained by the Senate (S. J., 1889, p. 934).

A bill having been returned to the house in which it originated, and the objections of the Governor sustained by its rejection, the further disposal of it has not been uniform. In 1883 (H. J., pp. 865, 897), the House ordered such bills sent directly to the Secretary's office. In 1889, a vetoed resolution was passed in the Senate, where it originated, the objections of the Governor notwithstanding, but failed of passage in the House, and that body, notwithstanding there was disagreeing action, sent the resolution to the Secretary's office, instead of allowing it to go back to the Senate, as would be the case with a bill that had not been presented to the Governor (H. J., 1889, pp. 709, 739). So far as noted, when this point has been raised, the decision has been that unless the house in which a bill originated, and to which it was first returned, passed it over the Governor's veto, there was no reason for sending it to the other house.

As above noted, the House, in 1883, decided that if the house to which a bill was returned by the Governor sustained the veto, the bill should go to the Secretary's office; but previous to the question having been raised, a resolution that had been returned by the Governor and rejected was allowed to go to the Senate and there passed, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. The resolution came back to the House on the disagreeing action, and that body decided that having once reconsidered it as required by the constitution, and rejected it, no further action could be taken (H. J., 1883, pp. 812-817).

This decision was in accordance with a ruling by the Speaker of the House (L. Harrison) in 1877, but that ruling was not at that time sustained by the House (H. J., 1877, p. 712).

In 1889, in the House, the point was raised that a vetoed bill, having been once reconsidered, could not be again reconsidered, but the Speaker (Perry) ruled that the point was not well taken, explaining, however, that he so ruled in order to correct a mistake, which had evidently and admittedly been made by the House in this particular case, and not as a strict parliamentary ruling, or as a ruling to be taken as a precedent (H. J., 1889, p. 1138).

YEAS AND NAYS.

In the House in 1893, the Speaker (Brooks) ruled that a motion for the previous question could not be withdrawn during roll-call, as on that motion the yeas and nays had been ordered by a vote of the House, and that the roll-call was then in progress and must be concluded. Appeal was taken but was not sustained (H. J., 1893, p. 1322).

PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE AND PRECEDENTS.

Upon most occasions that arise in the Connecticut General Assembly, the common parliamentary law that governs all legislative bodies, contains the rules which prevail. This common parliamentary law has grown up in modern times among English and American legislative bodies. The General Assembly of Connecticut has followed for many years the simple forms that formerly prevailed in the parliament of Great Britain with such modifications and changes as have been found necessary from time to time. "The Law and Practice of Legislative Assemblies in the United States of America," by Luther S. Cushing, contains the rules and precedents which govern almost every question that may arise in the Connecticut General Assembly. This authority can be safely appealed to in nearly every case that may arise. Cushing's Manual and Jefferson's Manual contain rules which are stated in such a general way that in many cases an examination of the larger work of Mr. Cushing will be found expedient by a legislator or presiding officer. Upon some questions that have arisen, presiding officers in the Senate and House in cases of dispute have followed the rulings of the Speaker of the House of Representatives at Washington, as that body is governed by the same general parliamentary law except when modified by its own rules and precedents. The digest of Mr. Barclay, which is used in the House of Representatives at Washington, contains many precedents which have been found useful by presiding officers in the Connecticut General Assembly. The practice in Connecticut has usually favored a simple and direct application of a few rules so as to facilitate the dispatch of business. The general parliamentary law which obtains, as cited above, is modified in Connecticut, first, by the joint rules and special rules of the House or Senate; second, by certain customs which are peculiar to Connecticut and which have been followed for so many years as to have the force of binding precedent; and third, by certain provisions of the general statutes.

JOINT RULES.

The joint rules relate principally to the organization of the General Assembly. They do not, however, cover the proceedings in case of an election of the State officers by the General Assembly.

The second joint rule provides for the appointment of the joint standing committees, which are now twenty-two in number. This rule provides what particular matters shall be referred to the several committees. The presiding officers and members usually follow these rules in referring business to proper committees, and it is considered bad form, unless under extraordinary circumstances, to refer bills or resolutions to other than the appropriate committees provided by the rules. The Committee on Cities and Boroughs was established in 1866, to relieve the Committee on Incorporations of its work relating to municipal charters, and also to relieve the Committee on Railroads of business relating to horse railroad companies. The Committee on Insurance was established in 1875, to further relieve the Committee on Incorporations of attention to important insurance interests. The Committee on Manufactures was established in 1877, for the purpose of attending to certain resolutions and bills that were usually referred to the Committee on Incorporations. The Committee on Appropriations was established in 1885, to take charge of all matters covered by chapter 40, and by section 402 of the General Statutes. The powers and duties of that committee are governed by the chapter and section referred to. The work of the Committee on Engrossed Bills is performed mainly by the Clerk of Bills, who is appointed under the provisions of section 401 of the statutes by the Secretary of the State, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House. The duties of the Clerk of Bills are pointed out more specifically by the tenth joint rule. The duties of the Committee on Engrossed Bills are provided in detail by the ninth and fourteenth joint rules.

The fourth joint rule provides that committees of conference shall consist of one Senator and two Representatives who were in the majority vote of their respective Houses. It sometimes happens that a question is raised whether a person nominated for a member of a committee of conference can be questioned whether or not he was in the majority vote. It has been decided in the House of Representatives at Washington, and the precedent has been followed in Connecticut, that unless the yeas and nays were taken and recorded no member can question the vote of another member if that member declares that he was in the majority vote.

The fifth joint rule provides that when each House shall have adhered to its vote of disagreement, the bill or resolution shall be considered lost. The regular method of procedure when a bill or resolution is returned to the House where it originated, upon disagreeing action of the other branch of the General Assembly, is to make a motion to insist and ask for a committee of conference. The subject matter should then be returned to the other House, and that body usually insists also and grants a committee of conference. If the committee of conference cannot agree they so report, and either House may then recede from its former action and concur with the other, or the usual course under such circumstances is that each House adheres to its original action, and the bill is lost. If the committee of conference agrees upon a report, the necessary action is followed in one or both branches, and the action recommended by the committee is adopted by amendment or otherwise. It sometimes happens that a motion to adhere is made, before a motion to insist and ask or grant a committee of conference, and it has been held that a motion so made may be entertained, but it is not considered respectful treatment of a bill nor of the other branch of the General Assembly to make a motion to adhere, until after a committee of conference has been asked for and granted and the inability of the two Houses to agree has become apparent.

The seventh joint rule provides for the return of a bill after it has been passed and sent to the Governor and before he has signed the same. If the bill has been signed by the Governor it has become a law, and can only be repealed as other statutes. If the bill has not been signed by the Governor, the invariable practice requires that the Governor should consent to its return. If, after passage and transmission to the Governor, either House desires that the bill shall be recalled, there is no rule of courtesy between the two Houses which requires a recall, and it should not be recalled unless the sense of both Houses agrees that there should be further consideration of the measure.

The eighth joint rule provides the method of procedure in joint convention of the two Houses.

The eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth joint rules provide for the endorsement, form, and printing of private and public acts. Private acts must be printed at the expense of the parties interested. The Clerks of the House and Senate will usually attend to the printing of private acts if the name of a responsible party is given to them, who shall be charged with the cost of the same. It is better that the Clerks should attend to this, because in that way the rules concerning the form of printing and filing for the calendar will be better observed.

The fifteenth joint rule relates to the method of procedure after bills have been reported from their respective committees.

RULES OF THE SENATE.

Most of the special rules of the Senate are similar to the rules of the House. The order of precedence of certain motions provided by the sixth Senate rule differs somewhat from that of the thirty-third House rule, but the only important difference lies in the fact that there is no provision in the Senate rules for a motion for the previous question. It has been held that the previous question cannot be ordered in the Senate because there is no such practice or rule in the Senate of the United States. In 1863 it was held, however, by the presiding officer, after a debate had been carried on for several hours apparently for the purpose of delay, that the chair would entertain a motion that "the Senate will proceed to take a vote upon the question pending." Such a motion is equivalent in its effect to the previous question, but it is believed this is the only instance in which the force of a motion for the previous question has been felt in the Senate. The thirteenth rule of the Senate provides that all committees except committees of conference shall be appointed by the Senate. Before 1868 the committees of the Senate were appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor; between 1868 and 1877 the practice varied somewhat according to the political complexion of the Senate and the Lieutenant-Governor. Since 1877 the rule has been, as at the present time, notwithstanding the fact that the Senate and Lieutenant-Governor have several times been of the same political faith. This is in accordance with the practice of the United States Senate and is justified by the fact that the Lieutenant-Governor is not a member of the body over which he presides, as is the Speaker of the House, and is not chosen by a majority of the Senate. The nineteenth Senate rule provides that a motion to reconsider may be made within three days of the actual session of the Senate. This differs from the thirty-seventh House rule which provides that a motion to reconsider must be made on the same or the succeeding session day. The difference between these two rules sometimes leads to a misunderstanding by new members. There seems to be no good reason why these two rules should differ, and it would be well if a revising committee should fix the time for reconsideration within the same number of days in both Houses.

RULES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

These rules have been carefully revised twice within a few years, and as they have modified materially the old rules and have made some changes in the common parliamentary practice, a careful examination is requisite for any member who remembers the older practice and rules, or who desires to be ready upon parliamentary questions that may arise.

MODIFICATIONS OF THE RULES BY STATUTE.

To understand thoroughly the powers and duties of the executive and legislative branches of the government and their relations to each other it is best to read the sections of the General Statutes from section 287 to section 429 inclusive. The special statute rules governing the General Assembly will be found from section 385 to section 429 inclusive. Under these statute rules the following limitations are placed upon the power of the General Assembly:

No petition can be considered for any relief which any court has power to grant.

Petitions of an adversary nature must be served upon the parties interested at least twelve days before the second day of the session of the General Assembly.

Petitions for the incorporation of banks, savings banks, or alteration of the charter of a city or borough, the incorporation of a railroad, horse-railroad, canal, or turnpike company, or for the alteration of the charter of any such company, must be duly advertised for at least three weeks before the first day of the session of the Assembly.

Petitions relating to the school fund must be returned and docketed by the first Monday in December preceding the session of the Assembly.

Members of the Assembly cannot appear as attorneys before the Assembly or any committee thereof, unless in their own cause or that of the towns they represent, or of some public corporation therein.

Applications for restoration of forfeited rights cannot be heard unless notice shall have been published at least once a week for two successive weeks within two months before the opening of the session.

Section 402 of the General Statutes provides that all estimates for the expenditures of the several departments, and all bills and resolutions appropriating money from the State Treasury, except those for the payment of claims against the State, and for the payment of the contingent expenses of the Senate and House, shall be referred to the Committee on Appropriations before final action thereon. No appropriation for a salary, compensation, or fees in excess of the amount allowed by law, can be made until after a law authorizing the increase has been passed.

Appropriations in excess of ten thousand dollars must be divided, if possible, into specific items.

No general legislation can be attached to an appropriation bill.

Sections 405-411 inclusive limit the powers of the executive and legislative departments of the government in relation to appropriations.

Any bill for a public act amending or repealing a statute must either cite the language of the statute amended or repealed, or so much thereof as may be necessary to show the effect of such amendment or repeal.

Contestants for seats in either House of the General Assembly cannot be allowed more than one hundred dollars for attorney fees and expenses, together with the legal fees of witnesses summoned with the approval of the Committee on Contested Elections.

The Treasurer cannot pay any member of the General Assembly his compensation and mileage until after the final adjournment.

Persons elected to either branch of the General Assembly by illegal practices are incapable of holding their seats unless they can show that they were not, directly or indirectly, concerned in it.

If any person elected a Representative shall by himself or others offer or distribute gratuitously among the electors any liquor on the day of election, or shall on any previous day entertain electors in like manner, with intent to procure votes, he shall be considered guilty of undue influence and illegal practices, and forfeit his seat in the House.

The mileage distance from each town to Hartford is fixed by section 428.

THE CALENDAR.

Prior to 1875 the regular business of each House (upon the reports of the committees), was taken up according to the convenience of the House and usually without notice to the members. The business was called up by the chairmen of the respective committees from the Clerk's table at the pleasure of the several chairmen. Since that time, the system of putting all public acts and joint resolutions upon a calendar which is daily distributed to each member, gives notice to each member of the order of business for the day.

The rules governing the printing of bills and the calendar will be found in sections 397-400 inclusive of the General Statutes. In addition, the twenty-third Senate rule and the ninth House rule govern the Clerks of the respective branches and direct them how they shall prepare and keep the respective calendars.

THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

The question has occasionally been raised in the House whether the previous question applies to anything more than the immediate question at issue: that is, if the pending motion is to amend a bill or resolution, and the previous question is ordered, whether any other question is thereby ordered than that upon the adoption of the proposed amendment, or whether the force of the previous question cuts off debate upon the whole subject matter and calls for a vote upon the pending bill or resolution as well as upon the motion to amend it. The weight of Connecticut rulings or authority is that in the Connecticut House the previous question when ordered, applies only to the immediate question before the House, and does not cut off debate upon any questions at issue that properly precede the definite one under debate.

YEAS AND NAYS.

A record of the yeas and nays may be ordered by one-fifth of the members present, and this right is guaranteed by section 9 of the third article of the Constitution. It was held in 1875 and several times thereafter, that the constitutional right to call for the yeas and nays exists at any time before the actual and final declaration of the result, although there may have been taken a viva voce and a standing vote before the yeas and nays are called for. This right to move for the yeas and nays at any time before a declaration of the result was held to exist before the adoption of the thirty-sixth rule of the House in its present form, and exists by force of the constitution in both the Senate and House independently of any rule.

RECONSIDERATION OF A VETOED BILL.

It was decided by the Connecticut House in 1877 that as long as a vetoed bill is in the possession of either House, that House may vote more than once upon the motion to reconsider, and pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. This is in accordance with a decision of the National House of Representatives in 1842. Undoubtedly, however, the second motion to reconsider should be made by some one who was in the negative vote upon the first motion to reconsider. When the vetoed bill or resolution has been reconsidered, it has been held that it is open for amendments so as to meet the objections of the executive, and on several occasions vetoed bills have been so amended, and have often received the approval of the executive. The amendment makes a new bill, and these rulings are in the interest of convenient and common-sense legislation.

TO LAY ON THE TABLE A MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

The Washington practice of clinching a vote upon a bill by making a motion to reconsider, and then laying that motion upon the table does not obtain in Connecticut. It was attempted in 1861 and resulted in failure. To permit such a thing to be done would violate the common-sense rules permitting reconsideration within two days in the House and three days in the Senate, and would enable a temporary majority to obtain an unfair advantage.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

A question has been raised once or twice whether two-thirds of all the members elected to either House are necessary to approve an amendment to the Constitution, or whether two-thirds of a quorum is sufficient. It was decided by the House itself in 1864 upon an appeal and by Speakers of the House in 1875, 1876, 1877, and 1884, that two-thirds of a quorum is sufficient to approve an amendment to the constitution of the State.* These decisions are in accordance with the ruling of the House of Representatives at Washington, in 1865 upon the adoption of the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

MINORITY REPORTS.

In most legislative bodies the majority of a committee control the reports, and the only report that can be made to a legislative body from one of its committees is that which is known as the report of the committee, which is the report agreed to by a majority of its members. The minority of a committee cannot usually make a separate or special report. In the Connecticut General Assembly, however, a custom has existed for a long time which permits the minority of a committee to make a special report. This special report may be simply the negative views of a minority, giving the reasons why they dissent from the affirmative action of the majority of the committee. When the minority of a committee report affirmatively, they may recommend the passage of a resolution or bill for a public act, which resolution or bill accompanies the report. It is the usual practice, however, to consider the report of the majority of a committee first, and if that report is accepted, no action should be taken upon the minority report, but it should be treated as rejected without further action because it has no right of existence except as a courtesy to the minority members of the committee and the opinions of the minority have been rejected once by the acceptance of the report of the committee. If, however, the report of the majority of a committee is rejected, it is usual to take up immediately, for consideration, the report of the minority. It does not follow, however, if the report of the majority is rejected that the report of the minority should be accepted. Any bill or resolution reported by the minority of a committee should be printed, and if passed, requires all the formalities in its passage that are requisite if the same came from the majority of the committee.

* This rule has been held to govern in restoring forfeited rights.

POWER TO SECURE A QUORUM.

The Constitution provides in Section 7, Article III, that while a majority of each House shall constitute a quorum to do business, a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each House may prescribe. There has never been any legislation by either House of the Connecticut General Assembly prescribing the manner in which the attendance of absent members may be secured. Such legislation has been proposed on two or three occasions, but the good sense of absent members has prevented any necessity for its adoption. On a few occasions during times of political excitement the minority has withdrawn and left the House without a quorum for the purpose of preventing immediate legislation, but in no instance has such action by the minority continued longer than till the next regular day of meeting. On one or two occasions it has been suggested that the Speaker has power to order the doors to be closed. This is undoubtedly a mistake, and it would require the passage of a resolution by the House itself, which resolution should provide a means of issuing a proper summons, to be served by some proper official, to bring the absent members on to the floor. On a few occasions Speakers have ordered the doors to be closed to prevent members from going out when it was feared the House might be left without a quorum. This was undoubtedly an arbitrary assumption of power which no Speaker or door-keeper could enforce, and has been submitted to only because of the good nature of the members who were thus kept within the House. In most legislative bodies when it becomes necessary to compel the attendance of absent members, the Sergeant-at-arms is the official clothed with the power, upon an order of the House, to arrest the person of an absent member and bring him on to the floor of the House. If a member of a legislative body should, by violence, prevent the Sergeant-at-arms from securing his attendance, such member could undoubtedly be expelled and a new election could be ordered to fill the vacancy. As the Connecticut General Assembly has no Sergeant-at-arms, it is probable that the Sheriff of the County of Hartford could be clothed with the necessary power to arrest the persons of absent members and bring them on to the floor of the House, but it is not probable any such extreme exercise of the constitutional power of either House will ever become necessary.

The Governor was first authorized in 1784 to appoint one or more notaries public in this State, as the commercial interests thereof may render it necessary or convenient. In 1833 notaries were empowered to administer oaths and take acknowledgment of deeds. In 1800 there were fifteen notaries in Connecticut; in 1812, thirty-two; in 1827, sixty-four.

UNITED STATES POSTAL REGULATIONS.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON DOMESTIC MATTER.

1. First Class.—Letters, and all other written matter, whether sealed or unsealed, and all other matter sealed, nailed, sewed, tied, or fastened in any manner, so that it cannot be easily examined, two cents an ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards one cent each. Postal cards are unmailable with any writing or printing on the address side, except the direction, or with anything pasted upon or attached to them other than an address label.

2. Second Class.—Newspapers and periodical publications when sent by publishers or news agents, one cent a pound or fraction thereof. Newspapers and periodical publications sent by persons other than the publishers and news agents, one cent for every four ounces or fraction thereof.

3. Third Class. Printed matter, in unsealed wrappers only (all matter enclosed in sealed envelopes notched on the sides or corners must pay the letter rate), one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof, which must be fully prepaid. This includes books, circulars, chromos, hand-bills, engravings, lithographs, music, pamphlets, proof-sheets, and manuscripts accompanying the same, reproductions by the electric pen, hektograph, metallo-graph, papyrograph; and, in short, any reproduction upon paper by any process, except handwriting, typewriting, and the copying press, not in the nature of a personal correspondence. Limit of weight, four pounds, except for a single book, which may weigh more. Third-class matter must be fully prepaid or it will not be dispatched. The third-class rate of postage applies also to seeds, bulbs, scions, plants, roots, and cuttings, when sent in packages not over four pounds.

4. Fourth Class.—Merchandise and all mailable matter not included in the three preceding classes which is so prepared for mailing as to be easily withdrawn from the wrapper and examined. Rate, one cent an ounce or fraction thereof. Limit of weight, four pounds. Full prepayment compulsory.

NAME AND ADDRESS OF SENDER.

Whenever the interest or convenience of the sender of mail matter does not forbid it, he should print or write on it his name and address in the upper left hand corner of the letter or package. This will secure its direct return to him in case of non-delivery, avoiding the delay involved in sending it to the dead-letter office, and, in case of a letter, the necessary invasion there of its privacy.

The reason why so many articles of dead mail matter are accumulated and sold by the department every year is that they have nothing on them to indicate who mailed them.

It is very desirable to the department to have the senders of matter endorse upon it their names and addresses.

POSTAGE RATES TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

Matter mailed in the United States, addressed to Mexico, is subject to the same postage rates and conditions as it would be if it were addressed for delivery in the United States; except that articles of miscellaneous merchandise (fourth-class matter), not sent as bona fide trade samples, are required to be sent by "Parcels Post," and that the following articles are absolutely excluded from the mails, without regard to the amount of postage prepaid, or the manner in which they are wrapped, viz.:

All sealed packages other than letters in their usual and ordinary form; all packages (including packages of second-class matter, which weigh more than 4 lbs. 6 ozs.) except such as are sent by "Parcels Post;" poisons, explosive, inflammable or malodorous substances, lottery tickets, fruits and vegetables which decompose quickly, live or dead (not dried) animals, (except queen bees and their attendant bees), liquids, pastes, confections, and fatty substances; publications which violate any copyright law of Mexico.

Bona fide trade samples are transmissible to Mexico in the regular mails at the postage rate given below, opposite "Samples of Merchandise."

Matter mailed in the United States, addressed to Canada, is subject to the same postage rates and conditions as it would be if it were addressed for delivery in the United States, except that the following articles are absolutely excluded from the mails, without regard to the amount of postage prepaid, or the manner in which they are wrapped, viz. :

All sealed packages other than letters in their usual and ordinary form; all packages (except single volumes of printed books and packages of second-class matter) which weigh more than 4 lbs. 6 ozs.; liquids, poisons, explosives, fruits and vegetables, which decompose quickly, malodorous substances, lottery tickets, Police Gazettes, live or dead (not dried) animals, (except queen bees and their attendant bees,) pastes, confections, and fatty substances; publications which violate any copyright law of Canada.

RATES OF POSTAGE TO POSTAL UNION COUNTRIES.*

Letters, five cents a half ounce or fraction thereof (fifteen grams being the postal equivalent of half an ounce).

Postal cards two cents each. Registration fee eight cents. Printed matter and samples of merchandise, one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof.

UNMAILABLE MATTER.

Obscene books, letters, papers, pictures, and postal cards; lottery circulars and letters; liquids, gunpowder, and other explosives; live reptiles, animals, and insects (except queen bees); poisons; and any article liable to injure the mails or the persons of those handling them.

WEIGHING PACKAGES.

If you have no scales, have all packages weighed at the post-office. Postage must be prepaid in full or the packages will not be dispatched.

RE-FORWARDING.

Letters will be re-forwarded from one post-office to another upon the written request of the person addressed, without additional charge for postage; but packages of third and fourth class matter cannot be forwarded or returned without a new payment of postage.

THE SPECIAL DELIVERY SYSTEM.

Mailable matter intended for special delivery may be mailed at, and will be delivered from, any post-office in the United States.

Accordingly, every article of mailable matter to which is affixed a ten-cent special delivery stamp, in addition to the postage required by law, will, upon its arrival by mail, have immediate delivery by a special messenger within the carrier limits of any free-delivery post-office, or within one mile of any other post-office in the United States to which it may be addressed.

This provision also applies to drop-letters and other mailable matter deposited for local delivery, and to registered letters or parcels, when bearing special delivery stamps in addition to the full postage and the proper registry fee.

Special delivery stamps are sold at all post-offices, and cannot be used for any other purpose than to secure immediate delivery.

THE POSTAL MONEY-ORDER SYSTEM.

The money-order system is intended to promote public convenience and to secure safety through the mails of small sums of money. The maximum amount of a single order is $100, and no more than three orders may be issued in one day to the same remitter, in favor of the same payee, payable at the same post-office.

A person applying for a money order will be required to state the particulars upon a form of application which will be furnished by the postmaster.

Parties procuring money-orders should examine them to see that they are properly filled up and stamped. This caution is necessary to avoid difficulties in the way of payment.

A money-order may be indorsed once, but not oftener. The person who presents a money-order for payment must be identified if unknown to the postmaster. Under no circumstances can payment of an order be demanded on the day of issue.

A money-order may be repaid at the office of issue within one year, provided it bears not more than one indorsement. The fee will not be refunded. When a money-order has been lost by either remitter, payee, or indorsee, a duplicate thereof will be issued by the department, free of charge, to the owner of the original upon his making application (stating the circumstances of the loss), to be forwarded by the issuing or the paying postmaster, from each of whom he must obtain and furnish a certificate that the original order had not been, and would not be, paid or repaid, as the case may be.

The fees or charges for domestic money-orders will be as follows:

For orders not exceeding $5,.....	5 cents.
For orders exceeding $5, and not exceeding $10,.....	8 cents.
For orders exceeding $10, and not exceeding $20,.....	10 cents.
For orders exceeding $20, and not exceeding $30,.....	12 cents.

For orders exceeding $30, and not exceeding $40,.....	15 cents.
For orders exceeding $40, and not exceeding $50,.....	18 cents.
For orders exceeding $50, and not exceeding $60,.....	20 cents.
For orders exceeding $60, and not exceeding $75,... ..	25 cents.
For orders exceeding $75, and not exceeding $100,.....	30 cents.

THE REGISTRY SYSTEM.

The registry system is intended to secure to valuable mail matter in its transmission through the mails the utmost security attainable. All classes of mail matter may be registered.

The fee on registered matter, domestic or foreign, is eight cents for each letter or parcel, to be affixed in stamps, in addition to the postage. Full prepayment of postage and fee is required. Two or more letters or parcels addressed to, or intended for, the same person, cannot be tied or otherwise fastened together and registered as one.

Postmasters, before receiving a letter for registration, must require the sender to have it securely sealed with its contents; to have it fully and legibly addressed; to have his or her name and address indorsed across the end; and to have affixed the necessary stamps to fully prepay postage and fee. Postmasters, before receiving third and fourth-class matter for registration, must require full address, indorsement, and full prepayment of fee and postage, and further require that such matter shall be marked "Third Class," or "Fourth Class," as the case may be, and so put up as to safely bear transportation, and admit of an examination of contents, to ascertain that it is admissible to the mails as such matter.

TOWNS, VILLAGES, AND DISTRICTS NOT CONTAINING POST-OFFICES OF THE SAME NAME.

There are in Connecticut towns, boroughs, and villages that do not appear in the list of post-offices. To make the REGISTER as complete as possible in this respect, this list was prepared in 1891.

Since it appeared in the REGISTER for 1892 a list of the localities in each town has been sent to the town clerk for correction, and with a few exceptions these have been returned with proper corrections made.

When there is no numeral referring to the P. O., it is the same as the town.

REPRESENTATIVES.

Previous to 1837 the Representatives from this State were elected by the people at large. The number at first, under the Constitution, was five, and by later apportionments it was changed in 1793 to seven, in 1823 to six, and in 1843 to four. From 1837 to 1843 they were elected one from each of the six districts into which the State was divided by an Act of the General Assembly; since 1843 they have been elected, one from each of the four districts established by the General Assembly of 1842, as follows: District number one, consisting of the counties of Hartford and Tolland; district number two, the counties of New Haven and Middlesex; district number three, the counties of New London and Windham; district number four, the counties of Fairfield and Litchfield.

[In instances where no districts are given the elections were at large.]

^a Elected for unexpired portion of term in 1834.^b Died at Washington Dec. 10, 1835.

GOVERNORS OF CONNECTICUT.

The supreme executive power of the State is vested by the Constitution in the Governor. He has power to administer oaths, sign writs, and issue process. He is directed to see that the laws are faithfully executed. On special emergencies he may convene the General Assembly in special session, at any place in the State. He is commander-in-chief of the militia of the State; has power to grant reprieves in all cases except impeachment; may himself be impeached; has power in the matter of requisitions for criminals. All commissions must be signed by him, and he may appoint Notaries Public, and Commissioners in other states and in the territories. He has power to veto all bills passed by the Assembly, but his veto may be overridden by a majority vote in both Houses, upon a reconsideration. Any bill not returned by him within three days, Sundays excepted, after being presented to him, becomes a law in like manner as if signed by him, unless the General Assembly by its adjournment prevents its return, in which case it does not become a law. He shall from time to time give to the General Assembly information of the state of the government, and recommend such measures as he deems expedient. He may adjourn the General Assembly in case of disagreement between the two Houses to such time as he thinks proper, not beyond the day of the next stated session. He nominates to the General Assembly the judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts, appoints one or more State Chemists, and a Dairy Commissioner, and, with the consent of the Senate, appoints the Insurance Commissioner, Railroad Commissioners; Bank Commissioners. Fish Commissioners, Board of Agriculture, Board of Charities, Harbor Commissioners, Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, directors of the State Prison, and the members of the State Board of Health. He is, ex officio, a member of the State Boards of Education, Agriculture, and Pardons, a member of the State Library Committee, a Trustee of the Connecticut Hospital for the Insane, a member of the Corporation of Yale University, and one of the Board of Visitors to the Sheffield Scientific School.

The Governor presided over the General Assembly before it was divided into two houses in 1698: from that date until the adoption of the Constitution of 1818 he presided in the council or upper house, with a casting vote but no veto power.

The title of His Excellency was given to the Governor by an act passed in May, 1777.

The Governor holds his office for two years, and receives an annual salary of $4,000.

DEPUTY OR LIEUTENANT- GOVERNORS.

Before the Constitution of 1818 the Deputy-Governor presided in council, or the upper house of the General Assembly, in the absence of the Governor; but when the Governor was present the Deputy-Governor had a voice in council. Until 1818 he could exercise the office of a justice of the peace throughout the State, and he could sign writs until 1879.

The Lieutenant-Governor is President of the Senate, has a casting vote therein, and the right to debate when it is in Committee of the Whole. In case of the death, resignation, refusal to serve, impeachment, removal from office, or absence from the State of the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor is required by the Constitution "to perform the duties of the Governor, until another be chosen at the next periodical election for Governor, and be duly qualified; or, until the Governor impeached or absent, shall be acquitted or return." He is, ex officio, a member of the Corporation of Yale University, the State Board of Education, the Board of Visitors to the Sheffield Scientific School, and a director of the Connecticut Industrial School for Girls.

COMPTROLLERS.

The office of Comptroller was created in 1786, by the General Assembly, by whom the appointment was made until 1833, and since then, by the Constitutional Amendment of 1836, he has been elected by the people, in like manner as other State officers.

Before the institution of this office orders on the Treasurer might be drawn by the Governor, or assistants; and by justices of the peace for sums under forty shillings. The Committee of the Pay-Table, which this office superseded, was originally established to liquidate and adjust accounts of expenses relating to the War of the Revolution.

The Comptroller is required to adjust and settle all public accounts and demands, except grants and orders of the General Assembly, and to prescribe the mode of keeping and rendering all public accounts. It is his duty to state, from time to time, the amount of debts and credits of the State, to examine into the collection of taxes, to see that all officers engaged in their assessment or collection faithfully perform their duty, and to report to the General Assembly those who are unfaithful; to present all claims in favor of the State against estates of insolvent and deceased persons, and bring suits for the recovery of the money and property of the State.

He procures the State printing to be done, has the care of the State Capitol and grounds, and may appoint a superintendent and assistant superintendent thereof. He is required to submit to the General Assembly, at the opening of each regular session, and oftener, if required, an abstract of the receipts and expenditures of the public funds for the two years ending the 30th of September preceding, and plans and estimates relating to the public expenditures, revenues, and funds.

He is, ex officio, one of the Auditors of the Treasurer's accounts, and a member of the State Board of Equalization, and the Board of Canvassers.

He is elected for two years, and receives an annual salary of $1,500.
